

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

1x APOLOGY FOR STRAWBERRY HILL.

"In matters of taste, there will ever be difference of opinion; because in such matters, there is no other criterion of rectitude, than individual feeling."—A. F. TYTLER.

In a house, affecting not only obsolete architecture, but pretending to an observance of the costume even in the furniture, the mixture of modern portraits, French porcelaine, and Greek and Roman sculpture may seem heterogeneous. In truth, I did not mean to make my home so Gothic, as to exclude convenience and modern refinements in luxury. The designs of the inside, and outside, are strictly ancient, but the decorations are modern, and the mixture may be denominated, in some words of Pope—

"A Gothic Vatican of Greece and Rome."

Would our ancestors, before the reformation of architecture, have hesitated to deposit in their gloomy castles, antique statues and fine pictures, beautiful vases and ornamental china, had they possessed them?—But I do not mean to defend by argument, a small capacious house. It was built to please my own taste, and in some degree to realise my own visions. I have specified what it contains*—could I describe the gay, yet tranquil scene where it stands, and add the beauty of the landscape, to the romantic structure of the mansion, it would raise more pleasing sensations, than a dry list of curiosities can excite—the prospect, at least, would recall the good humour of those, who might be disposed to condemn the fantastic fabric, and induce them to consider it, the very proper habitation of, as it was the scene that inspired, the author of the Castle of Otranto.

* Description of the Villa at Strawberry Hill, with an Inventory of the Furniture, Pictures, Curiosities, &c. Strawberry Hill: Printed by Thomas Kirgate, 1774, 4to. The same, with additions, 1784, 4to.; and again, with corrections, in the second volume of the edition of Lord Orford's collected works, 1798, 4to.

Having lived, unhappily, to see the noblest school of painting, that this kingdom beheld, transported almost out of the sight of Europe, it would be strange fascination, nay, a total insensibility to the pride of family, and to the moral reflections that wounded pride commonly feels, to expect that a paper fabric, and an assemblage of curious trifles, made by an insignificant man, should last, or be treated, with more veneration and respect, than the trophies of a palace, deposited in it, by one of the best and wisest ministers,* this country has enjoyed. Far from such visions of self-love, the account of the pictures and rarities is given with a view to their future dispersion. The several purchasers will find a history of their purchases, nor do Virtuosos dislike to refer to such a catalogue for an authentic certificate of their curiosities. The collection was made out of the spoils of many renowned cabinets, Lord Oxford's, Dr. Mead's, Lady Elizabeth Germaine's, the Duchess of Portland's, and about forty more of celebrity. Such well attested descent is the genealogy of the objects of virtù—not so noble as those of the peerage, but on a par with those of race-horses. In all these, especially the pedigrees of peers and rarities, the line is often continued by many insignificant names.

HOR. WALPOLE.

* Sir Robert Walpole, created Earl of Orford, and father of Horace Walpole, a name of much greater celebrity than when ennobled as a Peer. The Gallery of Paintings, formed at Houghton-Hall, by Sir Robert Walpole, were sold by George, the third Earl, in 1779, to the Agents of Catherine, Empress of Russia, for 40,555*l.* or according to another statement for 40,220*l.* The difference arose from the circumstance, as the writer has been informed, of the Empress Catherine's Agents requiring the portrait of Sir Robert Walpole, as the Collector, being included with the paintings; to this the Earl demurred, and the purchase in consequence was almost set aside; subsequently it was arranged, the sum in difference was abated, and the Earl allowed to retain the picture—it was that in the Refectory, at Strawberry Hill.

SEVENTH DAY'S SALE.

The Books, and collections of Portraits, Prints, and Drawings, which constituted the Seventh and Eighth Days' Sale of the property at Strawberry-Hill, were formerly deposited in the Round Tower. Some objections having been made to some of the Collections being sold en masse, the whole announced in the two days were withdrawn, re-catalogued, and extended to a ten days' sale, from Monday June 13th to the 23rd inclusive; yet, as most of the visitors to Strawberry-Hill have that portion of the Catalogue, the names of the purchasers to the lots as originally formed, and the prices produced at the more detailed sale, are here arranged as if really sold at the first sale, and for all general purposes, renders every possible gratification for satisfying the curiosity of the greater number of persons who inspected that far-famed depository of Art and Virtù.
